ARE NEW PLANTS TOO SMALL?

'Larger' Elementary Schools Policy Told

Jefferson Elementary District Schools will house more students in the future whenever possible.

At Monday's board meeting, Trustee Frank Verducci stated, "We haven't finished four under-construction schools yet and here we're thinking of additions to them already. Why should we build schools to house 480 pupils when money, time and effort could be saved by building them larger," he asked.

"Experience has proved we should construct larger ones. Shouldn't we have a policy defining this," he asserted.

Chairman Joe Lewkowitz answered, "We can't always get the land area possible for such large construction, so I would be against such a policy."

Trustee Tom Noonan cleared up the matter by stating, "The board would like it to be put on record as stating it is our intent, whenever possible, to build larger up to 700 pupils." All board members agreed on this verbal advice to the administration.

The discussion followed a report by Superintendent Richard Foster on the projected enrollment and construction recommendations up to 1963.

The board then approved the administration's choice of Dan Coleman as engineer and instructed the administration to recommend an additional site in Area 3 which currently includes Colma, Thornton and Vista Grande schools.

Approval was also given to add seven classrooms at each of the new schools to be built — Lincoln, Edison and Webster. Angus McSweeney was authorized as architect for the additional classrooms. Foster noted that a cost of $780,000 would have to be paid for the additions plus seven more classrooms than are planned for Christopher Columbus. However, he added, it would cost $710,000 for 13 classrooms at Gaspar Portola school, which may or may not be built in the future, and this is a considerable saving—giving the district 28 new classrooms rather than 13 for an additional $70,000.

A school site in Westlake No. 11 is being reserved by option for the district by the Doelger Corporation. If this school is obtained there may not be a need for the proposed Portola school as Westlake school would be able to house enough students, he added.

A letter was read to the board from Public Works Director Otis Calhoun which stated that 700 homes are planned on the "Southern Hills Property" (Crocker Hills off Bellevue avenue) and this property might be annexed to

Young Holdup Trio Admit Raids Here

Daly City police last week wrapped up a speedy investigation by charging three San Francisco youths with two grocery store stick-ups here that netted the long-delinquent trio $471.

Sgt. Jerry Galindo and Officer George Brooks took unemployed William Hastings, 17, into custody last week. The youth admitted he and two companions robbed County Line Market on October 29 and Mattson's Grocery on November 3.

San Francisco officers are holding James Holsworth, 20, and Steven Tessneer, 17, Hastings' partners, for a half dozen recent robberies in that city.

Holsworth, 261 Valencia street, is a CYA parollee. He was jailed previously for burglary and possession of narcotics.

Hasings also is on parole from CYA for burglary and auto theft. Tessneer a photo lab helper, is on probation from SF Youth Guidance Center after he was apprehended for auto theft. He had only been married three days (his 18-year-old wife is pregnant) when SF officers arrested him.

The .22 caliber revolver used by the trio in the Daly City holdups was stolen by Holsworth from a bakery, Brooks said. Tessneer drove the 1950 sedan used in the jobs here.

Hastings and Holsworth entered the two stores while Tessneer waited in the car.

All three face two counts of armed robbery. Holsworth, the oldest, undoubtedly will be sentenced to prison.

Lady On Roof Has Troubles --Bad Checks

A 19 year old girl's screams led to her own arrest on charges of passing fictitious checks —which she readily admitted to Daly City police—Sunday at 1:48 a.m.

Dolores Ann Graves, 520 Jones street, San Francisco, was standing atop the Mission Bell Motel, 6843 Mission street, yelling for help when manager Lee Rambeau notified police. She was still on the roof when Officer Jeff Wetmore arrived.

She told Wetmore that her boy friend had threatened to kill her after she called him a name in the motel. She identified the man as Dave Goodwin, 21, Graystone Hotel, San Francisco, and said they were posing as man and wife and cashing fictitious checks in the area.

Miss Graves, a waitress at Foster's Restaurant, 18 Geary street, said she became acquainted with Goodwin, a Compton's restaurant employee, a short time ago.

Miss Graves told police they rented the motel room to store articles they could purchase using the identification of "Hashell Wayne Hair." Friday was an unsuccessful day for the duo but the following day they purchased $20 worth of goods from Gerold's Liquors and $10 worth at the Spotlite Market.

In all, they cashed $90 worth of checks during the day, here and in San Francisco. She said they planned to stay at the motel that night and then journey to Seattle. However, they started drinking and the argument followed.

Miss Graves, who came from Tucson, Arizona, two months ago, was charged with passing fictitious checks. Goodwin had not been apprehended as of Tuesday.

Two Arrested Here In Narcotics Raids Placed On Probation

Two men arrested by Daly City police June 18 this year on charges of possessing narcotics were placed on probation in Redwood City Superior Court last Friday.

Judge J. A. Branson sentenced James Mackie, 23, former Westlake shopping center utility employee, to a year in county jail and five years probation.

John M. Zgraggen, 31, a garage owner who lives at 232 Klamath street, Brisbane, was admitted to probation for three years by Judge Frank Blum.

POLICE SAVE WESTLAKE MAN IN APT. FIRE

A passerby and two quick-moving Daly City policemen saved the life of a Westlake apartment dweller Friday about 1 a.m. after a cigarette-caused blaze almost proved fatal and did an estimated $700 damage to the residence.

The near victim, Guy Watson, of 81 Crestwood drive, apartment 12, can thank William Evans, 25, of 150 Belmar avenue, and Officer Al Nicolini and Sgt. Charles Terry for the swift rescue effort.

Evans, according to the police report, notified Nicolini and Terry, on routine patrol, that smoke was pouring from the front of the Crestwood apartment. The two policemen quickly radioed the fire department, meanwhile rushed to the residence, kicked in the jammed front door and carried the unconscious, pajama-clad Watson outside. Firemen soon arrived and Captains Allen Brush and Richard May tried to revive Watson with artificial respiration.

Police Officer Jim Doran administered oxygen to Watson

QUESTION uppermost in the minds of Daly City residents is who will be the next occupant of the Big Chair as new city manager. City Hall custodian Elwin J. "Smitty" Smith, a veteran of 16 years on the job here, tidies up the manager's office. He's seen them come and go on this job. Tomorrow night the council will meet with the State Personnel Board to screen 13 candidates for the $15,000 post. All of the applicants at present are employed as city managers in California.

'Housewarming' On Hillcrest A Hot Affair

Norma Miller, 49 Hillcrest drive, reported to Daly City police Tuesday at 8:20 that her husband was holding a housewarming party—only it was the wrong type. He had cut up a table and was burning it in the fireplace.

Edward McKinley Miller's explanation: "I wanted to make things warm for my kids."

When Officer Matthew Murray and Sergeant David Hansen arrived the house was filled with smoke and the wall above and the floor in front of the fireplace had been scorched. Inside the fireplace were parts of a table and two vases. In front of the fireplace was a handsaw.

Mrs. Miller was in the process of moving to her sister's home with the two Miller children. Her sister, Rose Sherwood, 25, 298 Los Banos avenue, was present at the time.

Mrs. Miller told Battalion Fire Chief Wayne Alexander she put out the fire with a water container. Alexander estimated loss of property as $50 and said $200 damage had been done to the building.

Miller, 31, in an alleged drunken rage, had cut up the table and started the fire which nearly got completely out of control. Miller, 31, said, "I guess I'll go along with you

WOMAN NIXES TRAFFIC TAG, BUT COP WINS

Mrs. Ruth Marion Del Greco, 38, 852 Commercial avenue, South San Francisco refused to sign a traffic tag and brought to the Daly City station where she was released on $27 bail Tuesday evening.

Officer Rich deLosa was on routine patrol, parked at the corner of Crocker avenue and Mission street, when Mrs. Del Greco went through a stop sign at 10 to 15 miles per hour, violating the right of way of two vehicles.

The officer stopped her and said, "How come you went through the stop sign when I was sitting right there?" Her answer, "I didn't see you."

DeLosa requested her driver's license. She complied and he wrote out a citation. "When I asked her to sign it, she said she would not as it was not fair because she did slow down for the stop sign," deLosa said.

He explained to her that she did not make a complete stop and also cut in front of two autos that had the right of way. She vehemently declared she would not sign the citation.

"I pointed out to her on the citation that she was not admitting guilt by signing," deLosa said. She read that portion of the citation and again refused.

DeLosa then told her she would be booked without her written promise to appear if she did not sign. She didn't and he did. He booked her for going through a stop sign and refusing to sign the citation. He husband bailed her out later that evening.

Real Estate Salesman In Burglary Case

Edward Crowell, 81 Crestwood drive, a former salesman for a local realty company, admitted taking goods from the vacant home of Nettie Bernice McNerney. The residence has been vacant since January and in the process of being sold.

A total of $435 worth of goods was taken from the 439 Willits street address by Crowell, according to the police report. Crowell returned the stolen goods and other items that Mrs .McNerney did not even know were missing. He was released when Mrs. McNerney refused to sign a complaint.

The items Mrs. McNerney

Brisbane Group Said In Favor Of Annexation

"Another" Brisbane annexation to South San Francisco proposal was aired Monday night at the South SF council meeting.

According to a SSF spokesman, a group of owners of industrial land adjacent to Brisbane told SSF council that a majority of Brisbane property owners favor annexation to South San Francisco in a move to lessen their heavy tax bills.

Brisbane annexation feelers are nothing new. The SSF council nevertheless appeared impressed by this latest proposal and took the matter under advisement.

Daly City officials long have watched for Crocker Estate developments east of here, hoping that more industrial firms will buy Crocker land near Daly City. This annexation to Daly City would be highly desirable,

COUNCIL MEETING MONDAY EVENING

Second regular monthly meeting of the Daly City Council will be held next Monday night, 8 o'clock, at City Hall, 75 Wellington avenue.

Association Fights High County Taxes

An awareness of the amount of taxes persons are paying and what the more than 40 taxing agencies in San Mateo County are doing, is the aim of the Town Hall Association in Menlo Park, President B. L. MacDonald said Tuesday.

"We hope to have units in every community in the county," he added. He noted there are more than 2000 members currently enrolled in the association and "we haven't been able to tabulate all the members yet."

He said the group was formed due to "actual pressure, an increase in taxes and property taxes which has just about reached the limit."

Approximately one-half of the county's residents, especially the new ones, never even see a tax bill as it is payed by the mortgaging agency which handles their home or bills," he stressed.

"We want to awaken the people to the negligence they show due to not paying attention to what is going on," he added.

The next meeting is this Thursday, November 19, in the Menlo Park city council chambers at 8 p.m.

The basis of the Town Hall's initial protest is a recent land reassessment program which was completed in only half the county. The Town Hall published an advertisement in a Peninsula newspaper in which was printed a form that property owners could use to protest their high taxes.

ARRESTED last week by Daly City police, CYA parolee William J. Hastings (center) and two young accomplices in custody of San Francisco authorities are charged with staging two armed robberies here. The trio, all in trouble before, held up the County Line Market, Liebig and Mission, on October 29 and Mattson's Grocery, 397 San Mateo avenue, on November 3. They have been positively identified by the store owners. Questioning Hastings are DC Inspectors George Brooks (left) and Jerry Galindo.

PROCEDURE CHALLENGED

Departments Spent More Than Allowed

Long-awaited final report on Daly City's last fiscal year books, issued in exacting detail to the city council this week, reveals that the city administration spent almost $200,000 more than it had budgeted for the 12-month period.

This glaring statement of fact is clearly defined and explained by City Finance Director Joseph Arch in the inch-thick report that specifically and objectively indicates that the city manager and the council did not conform to '58-'59 budget limits adopted by the council.

A careful interpretation of the report confirms statements made by City Attorney Paul Hupf shortly after the firing of City Manager George Watts that there were several shortcomings in the '58-'59 budget procedure and that the lower cash on hand status of the city beginning this fiscal year is a matter of concern.

Arch's voluminous report, documenting each department's specific budget and then actually what it spent, pinpoints the total of "overspent" funds at $199,887.17—indicating that the city manager did not adhere to budget authorizations set by the council and that perhaps the council was unaware of these heavy excess expenditures.

The report states that the grand total '58-'59 fiscal budget, as adopted by the council, was $1,478,268. With necessary adjustments, the total was increased to $1,506,574.56 in total expenditures.

But actual expenditures were listed as $1,657,919.93 compared to the council's adopted "limit" of $1,506,574.56.

Arch, noting that his report without making a detailed audit of the reported expenditures was basically a fair summary of appropriations, reminded that the last fiscal year presented many problems for his office due to the changeover to a new chart of accounts system, instituted by Watts during his brief tenure as city manager.

His breakdown in the report on the fiscal picture showed that the '58-'59 adopted general fund budget totalled $1,306,349. This included the appropriation for water department activities and water revenue bond retirement. In addition to this general fund total, according to Arch, an additional $19,550.70 was adjusted into the total figure," representing appropriations from unappropriated reserve and errors in budgeting procedure."

This total adjusted general fund budget then became $1,325,899.70. General fund expenditures, however, including encumbrances, totaled $1,433,144.33 — meaning that actual general fund expenditures were $151,588.86 over what was budgeted.

The report also showed that $50,098.31 was "overspent" in the parks, library, retirement, recreation bonds and fire bonds funds.

Thus, the total overexpenditure of the adopted budget was $199,887.17.

In the report, Arch noted: "There appeared to exist in the past fiscal year, under the procedures that were used in the preparation of the budget, a misrepresentation of meaning between reimbursement and revenues, it perhaps was felt that these receipts should be applied to expenditures. This meant they were being considered as reimbursement and not revenues.

"Under generally accepted accounting theory, reimbursement or abatements against expenditures are made when it is definitely established that a specific expenditure will be offset by a specific receipt. Under this theory, receipt would be credited to expenditure accounts, thus reducing these expenditures. It would therefore, necessarily reduce the need for the adopted appropriation. This apparently was the basis for the manner in which the budget for the 1958-59 fiscal year was adopted."

Arch's report also disclosed that the city manager and council had overestimated last fiscal year's revenues by $392,941.68 while at the same time the city overspent its adopted expenditures by the $199,887.17.

"It can be readily surmised," said Arch in the report, "that without efficient guidance during the last fiscal year from the finance department, in the absence of a full-time director of finance, and the many problems attributable to the changeover in the system, that the overall financial situation of the city remains sound.

Arch, however, went on to cite specific areas where improvements could be made as far as finance operations are concerned. He listed no less than 10 recommendations.

The estimated $60,000 in specific overexpenditures from the adopted budget, was listed by Arch by departments as follows (the $199,000 total overspent figure takes into account the overestimated revenue):

City clerk's office, $5511.55 in excess of what was budgeted; City Manager's office, $4237.13 over; Personnel, $3286.87; Finance, $7373.18; City Hall

Council Authorizes Crossing Guard At Knowles Intersection

The city council last week heeded Police Chief Roland Petrochi's recommendation that a crossing guard be hired to supervise the busy Knowles avenue-Miriam street crossing during school rush hours.

The council ordered a resolution to appropriate $909.76 to the police department budget—the salary of this new part-time employee.

Petrocchi's recommendation came after a survey on the crossing by Asst. Police Chief Roy McLaren. Mothers of children at the nearby elementary school earlier had asked the council to authorize a crossing guard at the intersection.

FUND-RAISING PTA CARNIVAL SATURDAY AT CROCKER SCHOOL

A flurry of activity in the Crocker-Pershing schools area signals the big PTA fund-raising event of the year, an all-day Carnival to be held this Saturday, November 21, at the Crocker School..

PTA workers will start work Friday to change the Crocker School multi-purpose room into a gay carnival place where fun and prizes are promised for all.

A number of game booths will entertain and reward the younger generation, from pre-schoolers on through the high schoolers, and participants will have the opportunity to try their skills at a variety of activities.

A pre-carnival parade through the area on Saturday morning will remind all the residents to be sure to come and have a good time for themselves, but Carnival chairmen add that a cordial invitation is also extended to those outside the PTA district.

STRANGE WOMAN'S NAP INTERRUPTED BY GENDARMES

Stephen Courter, 40, 17 Garibaldi street, was surprised when he went into his garage Sunday afternoon. He started to get into his auto and found a woman asleep in the car.

Officer Matthew Murray and Sergeant David Hansen responded to his call and found Mrs. Esther B. Bachman, 25, 761 Capp street, San Francisco, in the auto. The officers said she had apparently been wandering "in a drunken daze" and had entered through the open garage door.

She was booked for drunkenness and trespassing and released the next day.

Lawrence Washington, a brother of General George Washington, was a Marine Corps officer.

Family Fuss Brings Arrest Of Accountant

William Stanwood Wheeler, 46, 282 North Mayfair avenue, chased his wife and step-son from their home and then accidentally backed into a police car with Officer Jim Bergstrom, 29, sitting inside. Wheeler was charged with drunk driving on private property and bail was set at $267.

Police received a call from his step-son John Hanna, 20, who complained that he and his mother, Josephine Wheeler, were chased from the house Monday at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Wheeler said she wanted to get coats and clothing from the house in order to spend the night elsewhere.

Due to what she termed "his being very drunk and in a violent, combative mood" she asked for police assistance to re-enter the home. She noted she was going to file for divorce the following day.

Sergeant David Hansen and Officer Steve Steen started toward the house and radioed to Bergstrom to stand by at the North Mayfair residence.

Bergstrom said he parked in front of the driveway and left his motor running. He heard a motor running and saw Wheeler starting to back out of the garage. He put the police car in reverse and started to back up, at the same time yelling to Wheeler to halt.

The unemployed accountant's auto hit the left front fender of the police vehicle. Hansen and Bergstrom said Wheeler was drunk but not belligerent.

School Slope Work $44,460 Expenditure

At last Thursday's action-study session Jefferson Elementary District trustees awarded the bid for M. Pauline Brown School slope development to the Piombo Construction Company for $44,460. The base bid was $27,260 and alternate one was $17,200. The school is to be located in St. Francis Heights off Eastmoor avenue.

In other action, the board authorized the disposition of Jefferson School site properties, acquired in the expansion project, either through negotiated sale for less than $200 or as an inclusion in the demolition portion of the contract when construction begins.

General Pershing and George Washington school site properties, in eastern Daly City, were awarded to Pete Pereira and Hubert Trost at a total bid of $250, subject to the approval of the department of finance.

The board also authorized the administration to advertise for bids on the General Pershing and M. Pauline Brown schools and classroom additions at Jefferson school. The plans for these schools are currently getting a final check from the state division of architecture.

Boy, 8, Struck By Auto From Sheriff's Office

An eight-year-old Daly City boy was injured when he reportedly ran across the street against a red light and was struck by a car driven by a deputy sheriff of San Francisco last Thursday at 8:25 a.m.

Benjamin J. Navarro, 121 East Vista avenue, said he didn't notice of the signal was red or green when he ran across Mission street near Hillside boulevard. Witnesses said the light was red for the youthful pedestrian.

He was struck by a San Francisco deputy sheriff's auto, with Tony M. Coreris, 39, of 650 Fifth avenue, San Francisco, at the wheel. Navarro suffered an injury to his right knee and had to be carried to the M&D ambulance which transported him to Junipero Serra Hospital. Officer Ed Beecher did not issue any citations.

Truck Stolen Here

A rented stolen truck is being held in San Francisco as police of that city are checking it in a hit-run investigation.

The truck, under the care of Roger Gallardo, an employee of Podesta-Baldocchi, was taken from in front of 406 Niantic avenue, Daly City, late last Thursday. Officer Ralph Warren said the keys to the ignition were apparently left in the glove compartment.

Officer Jim Welsh said that the Mission Station of the SFPD reported they had recovered the truck and would return it as soon as the investigation was completed.

JAILED by San Francisco police and also charged by Daly City officers for two grocery store robberies are Steven Tessneer, 17, and James Holsworth (right), 20, both SF residents with long juvenile records. Booked here as their accomplice in the Daly City holdups was William Hastings, 17, prosecuted earlier for burglary and auto theft. Holworth's record includes an arrest for use of narcotics.

$66,602 Grant For Vista Mar Slope Project

State Allocations Board in Sacramento granted $66,602 to Jefferson Elementary School District last Tuesday for seepage control repair and erosion correction work at Vista Mar School in Westlake.

Superintendent Richard Foster and Dr. David Shapiro represented the Daly City district at the meeting. They learned also this week that the state division of architecture has approved final plans for the new General Pershing School off Hanover street. The old school will be torn down when the replacement is built.

Shapiro, the district's assistant superintendent in charge of business affairs, said removal of houses and properties purchased to make way for George Washington School off Whittier street near the San Francisco line should start within the next 45 days.

Henry Doelger Corporation has given the district a five-year option to purchase a K-6 school site in Westlake Unit 11 west of Skyline boulevard. Doelger engineers have come up with two alternate sites, one 10 acres and the other 15. Doelger is still attempting to negotiate with Pacifica officials on the builder's proposal for a school site in his proposed Westmont subdivision just south of Westlake Unit 11. If this site is obtained, the Daly City school district may not need a site in Unit 11.

could not find were listed by her and given to Officer David Johnstone. The list included groceries, two air mattresses, a vacuum cleaner, glassware and a fur coat.

Mrs. Clara Michelsen, a neighbor at 448 Willits street, said she saw the salesman showing the house to a woman on Monday, November 9. At 8:10 o'clock that night she was talking with the paper boy and noticed the lights on at the house. At first she thought Mrs. McNerney had returned and was cleaning the house.

When a car backed out of the garage with its lights off Mrs. Michelsen became suspicious. She said the car matched the description of the one used by the salesman. Since there was no forced entry and Mrs. McNerney had only one key and the salesman the other, he was immediately suspected.

Mrs. McNerney currently lives at 131 Muirfield drive in San Jose.

Under questioning by police Crowell said he showed the house to Mrs. Vicki Piccinnini, 462 E street, Colma, and said the woman thought the house was very nice and wanted to return that night to show it to her husband. He said her husband wanted to see if two cars would fit in the garage so he put his auto in at the same time and couldn't recall if he had his lights on or not.

His logical explanation was torn to pieces when police questioned Mrs. Piccinnini. Johnstone asked if she had seen any of the missing items and she continually said no until the fur coat was mentioned. She said, "I told Crowell that I couldn't understand why anyone would leave such a valuable fur piece like this lying around."

She noted that this took place at 2:15 p.m. Asked if she had returned that night with her husband she said she had not. Crowell under further questioning admitted the theft.

Mrs. McNerney said she just wanted the missing articles returned and would not press charges.

but only if industry is included. Industry helps to broaden the tax base and lower the burden on homeowners.

Daly City Councilmen have met several times with Standard Builders of San Francisco. This firm has purchased more than 100 acres from Crocker Estate for a 700-home subdivision next to Daly City. Standard wants this subdivision to be annexed by Daly City. Lack of industrial tracts on the Crocker land next to this subdivision, however, might cause Daly City to hesitate to approve the annexation.

Councilmen Francis Pacelli and Joseph Verducci and City Attorney Paul Hupf will meet soon with Crocker officials to ask about Crocker's industrial plans close to Daly City.

'Wife Is Okay,' But Dog-gone-it, Hounds Must Go!

"I can tolerate my wife, but her and the four dogs is too much."

Such was the exact statement Frank Shyne made to Officer Richard Sims last Wednesday at 8:40 p.m. after Mrs. Freda Shyne walked into the Daly City police station and said that her husband had just thrown her and her four dogs out of the house.

Sims stated the couple finally agreed to a "compromise." Mrs. Shyne was let back into the house, 656 Bellevue avenue, and the dogs were placed in the basement.

Trustees OK Extra Work At 2 Schools

Jefferson Elementary trustees Monday night approved change orders at Vista Grande and Vista Mar schools in the amount of $2809.96. The money will come from district funds and not the state.

The state refused to allocate funds for this work. Heading the list at $2,191.72 are revisions to the inner classroom building court at Vista Mar. The reason for the change order was the necessity of additional work before the plant-operation could be started due to the nature of the existing soil.

Richard Werelius, inspector of the three classroom additions at Olympia and the music room at Ben Franklin, was assigned as inspector for the Fernando Rivera School. His salary for the three jobs is now $750 a month.

The board also employed the firm of Abbot A. Hanks Inc. for testing and inspection at Fernando Rivera School at a cost of approximately $3250.

Trustees accepted the notice of completion on Vista Mar slope stabilization from Arthur Haskins Inc. on the date noted by the architect, October 9, 1959.

A deed of acceptance was received by the board for a parcel of land at $500 from Dorothy L. Maxwell for property adjacent to 1659 Sweetwood drive.

In the teaching realm:

The board allowed Miss Beverly Peira, four year veteran teacher, a three-month leave of absence for illness.

Accepted the resignation of Claribelle Williamson, four-year teacher here. due to the serious illness in her family.

Hired Mrs. Myrtle Culley, who has substituted in the JESD the past four years, with a salary pro-rated from November 16. Mrs. Culley received her A.B. at San Francisco State and taught one year in North Dakota.

Hired Miss Margaret Phyllis Rooney, to start February 1. She is presently on a long-term substitute assignment in Southern California. Miss Rooney received her A.B. from University of California.

"If this land is annexed to Daly City or annexed to Jefferson Elementary District, this board would need approximately 10 level acres of land for a school site, either in this subdivision or adjacent to it," Verducci pronounced.

The board also voted to dispense with study sessions on December 3 and 17, "unless important material that cannot be left until later comes up."

Some city departments didn't spend as much as they were allocated. The main concern of many people, however, is the excess expenditures and the failure of the city manager and the council to stick to their adopted budget.

as the latter was being transported to Junipero Serra Hospital by Broadmoor Police Ambulance. Watson was later transferred to Community Hospital in serious condition from smoke inhalation.

Daly City Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy said the blaze and smoke, presumably centered in the sofa, caused considerable damage to the living room.

Nicolini noted that there were several beer cans strewn around Watson's apartment. He surmised that Watson apparently fell asleep on the sofa while smoking a cigarette.

In 1938 the Statue of Liberty in the entrance to New York City's harbor was dangerously close to falling apart because corrosive attack had weakened the rivet sholding the statue's huge metal plates together. Two Caddies Charged With Arson Attempt

Two teenage caddies at the Lake Merced Golf and Country Club, located on Junipero Serra boulevard, were taken into custody late last week after allegedly igniting a rag with lighter fluid and throwing it next to the women's restroom.

The duo offered no logical explanation for the act. One of the culprits had just enlisted in the Navy and told his partner, "I don't care what happens, I'm leaving in a few days anyway." Due to his armed forces obligation, the Daly City police department reprimanded the budding sailor and released him.

His friend was cited to Hillcrest Juvenile Detention Home when it was learned that he was on probation from California Youth Authority. A former Jeff senior who quit school, the 17-year-old was booked for intent to commit arson by Officer John Coleman.

Who's The Boss?

After seeing the typed statement submitted by the finance department of the city of Daly City, nearly five months after the close of the city's fiscal year, we wonder just who represents the taxpayer's interests at city hall. Is it the council, city manager, or the department heads?

The report shows that nearly every department in the city hall overspent its budget for the fiscal year. This being the case, why have such a useless appendage as budgetary controls on city business at all? Why not just forget the budget allowances for all departments and spend tax money in a free and unhampered manner (which evidently is being done at present)?

After all, the city council is directly responsible for all expenditures (except possibly those of an extreme emergency) and they should see to it that budgets for each department—made up by the city council—are strictly adhered to.

Should a city manager go over the heads of the city council and authorize unbudgeted expenditures then he, and not the council, becomes master of the city—and the same would apply to any department head doing the same thing.

However, the city council is supposed to be "boss" at city hall—they are elected by the people to run the city's business and are proportionately responsible to the people for their actions. Unless the city council takes more responsibility into their own hands and actually becomes the governing body of the city, we feel that the taxpayer is due for a rude and rough awakening.

College Of San Mateo Committee Mulls Length Of The School Year

The length of the college year will be subjected to intensive study at College of San Mateo.

A 28 member faculty committee this week began the year-long pilot study on the key questions of maximum opportunities for students and most efficient use of facilities.

At the initial meeting of the group, College of San Mateo president Dr. Julio Bortolazzo cited increasing local and statewide interest in four-quarter, Trimester, and summer session plans as possible solutions to the expected flood of enrollments in the 1960's.

"Traditional plans sometimes go on because they are not sufficiently challenged. We start with a pattern and fall into step. But, we can't be sure there are any innovations or that innovations would be better than the traditional pattern for the school year," said the president. "This is the time to draw up the questions and find some answers. It isn't the time to draw conclusions."

One of the key questions given top priority for immediate study is the possible extension of the summer session for 1960. Assessment of needs, possible offerings, and projected enrollment figures will be under consideration in the near future so that tentative plans can be drawn prior to the start of spring registration.

The major focus on a long-range basis will be on study of patterns for length of the school year. Undertaken as one of the first steps will be compilation of studies and research. In pointing out the necessity for careful review of reports of current practices, President Bortolazzo at the same time stressed the need for creative thinking, using studies as guides only.

Scheduled to meet through the present school year, the committee is expected to issue a report in June of 1960. As a pilot study on the junior college level, the San Mateo review and findings will be submitted to the California Junior College Association.

Auto Victim's Father Praises Local Firemen

Dear Mr. Bradshaw:

On the afternoon of October 29, my son Michael was struck down by an automobile on Parkview avenue between Mission and Santa Barbara in Daly City.

I would like at this time to publicly extend my sincerest thanks to the personnel of Firehouse No. 2 who administered first aid to my son and comforted him until the arrival of an ambulance.

Later on the same evening, I was contacted by Fireman John Martin, who inquired as to the well being of my boy.

It gives the average citizen a great deal of comfort to know men such as these are available in time of emergency.

Again, my heartfelt thanks.

SM County Gets $165,676 In Highway Funds

The October split of highway users taxes among the state, counties and cities totaled $30,248,509, State Controller Alan Cranston reported today.

Here is how the total was apportioned:

$19,986,459 to the State Highway Fund for expenditure on highways.

$7,379,987 to the counties.

$2,882,063 to the State Highway Fund for cities.

San Mateo county's share of the total allocated to the counties was $165,676, Cranston said.

The total distributions increased by $2,559,644 or 9.24 per cent over those for October of 1958, Cranston said.

The amount distributed during October was comprised of $27,667,800 from the net gasoline tax, $1,442,738 from the diesel fuel tax, $1,137,393 by transfer from the Motor Vehicle Transportation Tax Fund, and $578 from miscellaneous sources.

COURT Clerk Richard Liberty shows Municipal Judge Charles Becker of Daly City "proof positive" that as of last week all jurists must wear official robes to lend more "distinction" to their roles on the bench. Students At DC's Jefferson High Look Forward To 'Dress-Up' Days

Students at Daly City's Jefferson High School have launched a unique "dress up day." Once a week the boys come to school wearing regular suits and sports suits and the girls don more formal dresses and occasionally high heels.

This voluntary project, which has found many students participating, resulted from a suggestion by American History teacher Gil Toibin. He told students in his classes that dressing up "a little more" at least one day a week would make students feel more "adult" and that this might make for better accomplishments in academic work. Other teachers agree that more mature attitudes seem to be resulting from the idea.

"Actually, a lot of our students look forward to these Friday dress-up days," Toibin told the newspaper. "These youngsters seem to get a psychological lift when they look more dignified and I've found that they seem to complete their assignments with more enthusiasm."

Asked if students are usually concerned with their clothing appearances, Toibin replied that for the most part students try to be neat and properly dressed.

"If you don't think our students like to dress up," he went on, "you should attend our student dances in the evening when formals and dress suits really predominate."

The woman was placed in the M&D Ambulance at the site of the accident, Dorchester drive and South Mayfair avenue, and then was transported to Junipero Serra Hospital.

Officer Rich deLosa did not issue any citations at the time of the accident.

Councilman Joe Verducci got some friendly satisfaction out of the 49ers' loss to Chicago's Bears last Sunday.

It's not that "Coach of the Year" Joe dislikes Red Hickey and Councilman Bob St. Clair's playmates. It's just that Verducci scouts enemy clubs for the Chicago Bears. He diagrams all 49er games for the Chicagoans.

It's ironic, but not unexpected, that although Joe coached St. Clair when Bob was a prep star at San Francisco Poly High, Verducci and Big Bob don't exactly see eye to eye at the council table.

Football is one thing, politics a separate specialty.

Verducci, by the way, was busier than usual last week. In a span of five days, he observed his 49th birthday, feted his folks on their fiftieth wedding anniversary, directed his SF State gridders to an unbeaten season (10 wins) and fourth straight championship, and was named Northern California football boss of the year.

One of the best "little yarns" we've heard in some time was relayed by Daly City Police Officer Charles Munday, a vet of 12 years on the force.

Like a mother hen, Charlie often directs OLPH School youngsters crossing Mission street near Hillcrest. One mother, naturally concerned about her infant's safety, consistently lectured her boy to hold onto somebody's hand while crossing the street, even when there are traffic signals.

Munday says the little fellow was alone one morning and seemed a bit confused. But the lad performed as per parental instructions.

He held one hand with the other and proceeded across the street.

Let no one say the youth of today disregard their elders. The OLPH youngster improvised in his moment of decision — the mark of a thinking individual.

Al Nicolini and Charles Terry, the two DC policemen who rescued an unconscious Westlake man from his blazing apartment last week, stroked their chins when they saw a copy of "The Earth Shook, The Sky Burned" atop the near-victim's TV set.

Coincidence and nothing else. The book incidentally is a fine presentation of SF's big quake and fire in 1906.

Hugh Heffner, publisher of the "girlie" magazine that is being banned from Peninsula newsstands, retorted on hearing of the move that he could think of no one more less qualified than a police chief to determine what is or isn't "obscenity."

Daly City doesn't have much of a problem with "objectionable" newsstand materials.

Ordinances specify that obscene pictures and literature are illegal but provide for no authority or group to decide what is "obscene."

Periodic checks are made of newsstands by officers here and in some cases owners have been called in and urged to exhibit these undesirable wares in less conspicuous places.

Negro Businessman Discusses Trip To Russia In Jeff High Speech

Approximately 400 junior and senior students at Daly City's Jefferson High School listened with intense interest Tuesday last week to Jefferson Beaver, vice president of the Trans-Bay Savings and Loan Association, invited to the campus to discuss his recent trip to Russia with a group of San Francisco area business leaders.

The Negro administrator, introduced to the two Jeff High assemblies by Principal John Mongan and history instructor Rudin Tretten, gave impressions of life in the Soviet Union which he and the 50-member American group absorbed during a month-long visit there as guests of Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan.

Beaver declared that the major emphasis in Russia today is on youth and their education. In visiting Moscow University, he learned that all its students were selected after highly competitive, Russia-wide examinations and were fully subsidized in their academic work. All books, tuition and housing is paid for by the government.

The Jefferson High guest also said the "everything for youth" attitude was reflected by the low-cost of children's clothing, abundance of young adult projects and the high esteem the working people have for the young scholars and their studies.

Asked by a student if the American entourage was allowed to go anywhere it pleased, Beaver answered that for the most part they were directed by governmental guides.

"But a few of us did make a few side trips to shops, department stores and neighborhoods without having Soviet government personnel along."

Beaver noted that quite a number of Russian people have a limited knowledge of English and other foreign languages. Interpreters helped the Americans considerably however, he added.

The Jefferson students wondered about discrimmination in Russia and if the Soviets made any mention about Negroes in this country.

Beaver said Russians asked him about segregation and the Little Rock incident. He replied that "we are making much progress in this field." He then countered this query by asking his Soviet hosts about the discrimmination in Russia against the Jewish people, the Armenians and other minority racial strains. Beaver didn't get much of an answer to this inquiry, he said.

As for religious freedom in Russia, Beaver told the high schoolers that the Russian government claims a tolerant attitude toward worship within the Soviet Union, but that he noticed that most of the churchgoers appeared to be older people. Russia's young people, he noted, seem enthusiastic and much concerned with aiding the progress of their country.

The average Russian, Beaver continued, earns more money than most Americans think, but since normal necessities such as clothing and food cost so much, this money doesn't go very far.

Television sets are common in the bigger cities, he said, but the government owns the stations and there is strict control of all that is transmitted on video.

Beaver described Leningrad as the most modern of the bigger cities he visited, even more so than Moscow, the capital, which he decribed as rather ancient and historic looking.

Students also heard Beaver explain that most residents of Russia's big cities live in apartments. Persons with more money than the average working man are allowed to build homes, but they are never able to purchase land outright. The Soviet government, Beaver pointed out, maintains it theoretically owns all the land in Russia and controls all the industry.

TV and Radio

By Mona Baker

Of the many star interviews during past years, we can recall no one who has exemplified the qualities of sincerity and modesty more than Roy Rogers and Dale Evans whom it was our privilege to meet at a press gathering last week when they were in town to do the "Chevy Show" from the Cow Palace.

As they graciously went from youngster to youngster, shaking hands with all the children present, we managed to chat briefly with Mr. Rogers. Knowing something of his activities among youth groups, we questioned him about this work. He appeared thoughtful, told about a church group of which he had been president, and then said he couldn't recall any other. He said nothing about his many volunteer appearances before children in hospitals, orphans, or the mentally retarded, or about being cited by countless organizations for humanitarian services. Among the many citations are a first service award made by National Association for Retarded Children, American Legion Award for "Americanism," many Armed Forces citations and most recent 1958 4-H Club Alumni Winner.

This television season finds Roy Rogers starring with Dale Evans in more full hour spectaculars than any other western star. The entire Roy Rogers family will appear on the Dinah Shore Thanksgiving show over NBC, KRON-TV. Speaking of his family he told us that he has eight youngsters, three of whom are married.

Roy and Dale receive as many as 5000 letters each week. Further emphasizing their tremendous popularity, their state fair tour in 1958 played to more than a half million people, establishing a new record for entertainers that year, with gross ticket sales totaling an incredible $1,116,000. International fame has come also with appearances in England and standing offers to visit Great Britain again as well as Canada, Australia and four South American countries.

With it all, they remain themselves, devoted parents—charming, sincere and modest—truly a credit to the entertainment world, and an inspiration to American youngsters!

Nickel Formerly a Rare Metal

Nickel was regarded as a comparatively rare metal until the discovery, in the latter part of the nineteenth century, of extensive ore deposits on the island of New Caledonia in the South Pacific. This island was the world's chief source of nickel until early in this century when Canadian production surpassed it.

14 ELEMENTS

Through the development of new and improved refining methods, International Nickel now recovers 14 elements from its ores mined in the Sudbury District of Ontario.

Marines first became a part of a Navy ship's detachment when a unit was assigned to the "Cabot" in December 1775.

Two For Tonight

By Leonore Brewer

It is this corner's opinion that "Sunrise at Campobello" currently playing the Curran would not be having the success it is if it purported to be a drama about an ordinary man stricken with polio as he reaches his most productive years.

Change the leading character from FDR to just another man and you'd have just another play. Not that Schary rubs the public's nose in politics; "Campobello" is essentially the private life of a public figure. However, despite any number of homey little touches to show that the great man was a human being just like you and me, at no time could this be taken to be the story of any man facing a very doubtful future.

It is always the story of one man, heading towards his destiny, difficult, stormy, triumphant. And it is this knowledge, never below the consciousness of the audience, that raises Schary's play above the bathetic inspirational pieces so dear to the heart of the Sunday supplement readers.

FDR was and is a highly controversial figure and not even death nor the passage of some 15 years had dampened his ability to raise blood pressures to unprecedented heights. It is our awareness of the history that is to come that gives that final scene on the convention platform its punch.

Bellamy's projection of his character is superb, With upthrust thin, long cigarette holder at a jaunty angle and upon occasion an old battered hat, he conjures up the essence of the Roosevelt image. Michaele Myers' portrayal is that of a shy, retiring personality, which we understand is authentic early-Eleanor.

The Roosevelt children are all there, but with the exception of Anna (Jill Andre) we couldn't tell one from the other. As Russell Collins in the role of Louis Howe says glumly, "They're all cut, but there's sure a hell of a lot of them."

There's more than just a hint of the clash between Eleanor and her husband's mother, played like a born autocrat by Ann Shoemaker. However, neither actress permits it to degenerate into common "mother-in-law trouble."

Of course it's pretty much Bellamy's play. His only real competition is from the above mentioned Russell Collins whose dry wit is refreshing when Bellamy's cheerfulness becomes too thick. Alan Bunce, as the once Happy Warrior, has the play's one nettling line: "The first objective of a politician is to be elected and then worry about causes."

Catholic Thanksgiving Clothing Drive Aids Impoverished Peoples

With the world-wide need for clothing, shoes, and blankets for the destitute made even more urgent by the plight of thousands of Japanese and Mexican earthquake and flood victims, the Catholic Bishops' Thanksgiving Clothing Collection is again being organized in San Mateo county. This mercy drive is conducted in more than 16,500 Catholic parishes and schools of the United States.

The Rev. John T. Butler, assistant pastor of St. Matthew's Church, San Mateo, has been appointed by Archbishop John J. Mitty as Director of the Catholic Bishops' Thanksgiving Clothing Collection in San Mateo county. Last Thanksgiving, residents of this county contributed 44,390 pounds of clothing during the Catholic campaign.

"Donations of clean, wearable clothing and shoes and bedding may be left at any Catholic Church or school in the county during the week of November 22-29," Father Butler stated. "Distribution is made to needy persons overseas, regardless of race, creed or color.

"In the last year, aid was extended to include poverty-stricken areas of South America and Africa, in addition to afflicted sections of Europe, Asia, and the Far East. Our appeals for aid now exceed those of former years. And the recent earthquakes and floods, bringing misery and homelessness to many more thousands in Japan and Mexico make the demand even more imperative and acute.

"As we count our blessings Thanksgiving, we have, through the Catholic Bishops' Thanksgiving Clothing Collection, an opportunity to aid thousands less fortunate. Donated garments may be left at any Catholic Church or school, and will be directly forwarded to those in need."

JESD OFFICIALS ATTEND CONFAB ON COUNSELING

Two of Jefferson Elementary School District's personnel participated this week in the fall conference of the Northern California Guidance Association in Hayward. Dr. Douglas Harkness, coordinator of pupil personnel services for the district, was moderator of a panel discussing "The full-time counselor in the elementary school."

Dr. Mildred Karch Moorin, counselor at Benjamin Franklin School, was one of the panel members.

Dr. Harkness stated that counseling has been largely confined to the secondary level but that there is a growing trend toward providing counseling services by trained personnel in elementary schools as a preventive measure. This would be one way of early identification of problems which would then have a better chance of being resolved.

Q—I sold my house and the new buyer has taken over liability for the unpaid balance of my loan. Does this automatically entitle me to another GI loan?

A—No. Loan rights may be restored only for certain compelling reasons such as health or condemnation of your property by the government. They are not restored automatically when you are free from liability.

Q—I am a Korean veteran holding a GI term insurance policy which I understand I can now convert. What can I convert to?

A—You may convert your term insurance to any of six permanent plans offered by the VA, or you may exchange it for a lower-priced term policy. For details, visit your nearest VA contact office, or write the VA insurance office where you pay your premiums.

Q—I am an experienced carpenter, but I would like to take a carpentry course under the Korea GI Bill to brush up on my skills. Would this be possible?

Tortillas, frijoles, and a pinata ceremony were all a part of the Mexican Fiesta which sixth graders of Mrs. Iola McKeown's class shared with over 100 classmates at Colma K-6 School. The fiesta was a culmination of a study on Mexico.

The tortillas, made by Helene Cuadra and Richard Gomez, were served to all the guests by Linda Hiskey, Nancy Pientrunti, Joyce Solari, and Diane Love. Sweets from the pinata, made by Linda Alcalde and Donna Downey, were also distributed among the guests. All the boys wore serapes and the girls wore rebozas, each made by the individual child.

Byron Leonondakis had dried corn, soaked it in water and limewater and demonstrated grinding it on an authentic metate. An original play, "Mexicans in a Cornfield," by Paul Tomasello, was presented by Dennis Amundsen, Loren Fitzgerald, Byron Leonondakis, and Charles Barber.

Study activities by the various committees in the class were a part of the fiesta area. Susan LaCour explained the Mexican Village mural which depicted the life and livelihood of the Mexican people. Transportation by sea and by air was interpreted from a relief map by Brian Stark and Robert Untalan who told of imports and exports. Kathy Flint told of the market which was made by her committee. Important cities and industries were reviewed by Margherita Harris in an explanation of the group-made map.

When nickel ore was first discovered during the nineteenth century in the Sudbury region of northern Ontario, earily prospectors thought the ore contained only copper. Later it was found that the ore yielded more nickel than copper. This region, for more than the past 50 years, has been the world's greatest source of nickel.

FRANCIS CITES MEETING ON CONSERVATION

State soil and water conservation programs and their relation to federal projects were the subjects of a hearing of the State Assembly Interim Committee on Natural Resources, Planning and Public Works in San Bernardino last week, reports Assemblyman Louis Francis.

According to Francis, a committee member, San Mateo County was prominently mentioned at the hearing as the first soil conservation district formed in California and is known as District 1. There are now over 157 districts in the state.

Represented at the hearing, Francis said, were major soil conservation districts, State Division of Soil Conservation, State Division of Forestry, U. S. Forest Service, flood control districts and other governmental agencies.

Arthur Darsey, chief of the State Division of Soil Conservation told the committee, "As a result of California's unprecedented growth of population, agriculture and industry, it now finds itself faced with highly critical water supply, flood control, and soil conservation problems."

Fire protection was stressed by Francis Raymond, chief of the State Division of Forestry. He stated that his division has developed plans for its fire protection system to provide for a level of basic protection reasonably uniform statewide commensurate with problem and values involved.

Strongly supporting flood control, Francis pointed out to the division heads that "runoff water caught and held back in upstream conservation treated lands means detained and controlled downstream flood waters that could cause needless destruction and misery with wasted and valuable top soil."

"Every time you see a muddy river raging and running rampantly to the ocean you are seeing fruits, wheat, meat, other foods going to waste that will never nourish mankind," he emphasized.

Francis also said, "The costs of this program on agricultural lands are justified since it insures watershed protection which benefits 87 percent of the population living in cities and suburban areas."

Get-acquainted Indian Guides Meeting Friday

The Apache Tribe and other Indian Guides tribes in the Daly City, Colma and Westlake areas will be on hand to welcome five-to-seven year old boys and their dads at the "Get Acquainted Council" to be held at Benjamin Franklin School, 700 Stewart avenue this Friday, November 20, at 7:30 p.m.

Refreshments will be served and movies will be shown to the Little Braves. The purpose of the Get Acquainted Council is to inform busy interested fathers about the values of the program for their sons. Attendance implies no obligation to join. New tribes will be formed on Friday and local Y-Indian Guide fathers will give their time to helping the new tribes get off to a good start.

The Apache Tribe, like other tribes, is made up of from six to ten neighboring fathers and their five-to-nine year old sons. All walks of life are represented in the Apache tripe. There is a government employee, the manager of a supermarket, an oil dealer, a doctor of medicine, a repairman, a professor and others.

'Share Surplus' Drive Saturday In Broadmoor

The young people of Broadmoor Presbyterian Church will canvass Broadmoor Village homes this Saturday afternoon after 3 o'clock. This will be for the purpose of securing contributions for "Share Our Surplus" (S.O.S.) whereby for every dollar contributed there is 300 pounds of government surplus food delivered for distribution to the hungry millions overseas. This not only will help needy people but it will also help the government put its surplus food to worthy use rather than spend millions to keep it stored.

The local youth distributed information leaflets concerning S.O.S. last Sunday evening to each Broadmoor home. Each youth collecting this Saturday will wear a yellow Share Our Surplus identification tag.

The funds contributed will be sent for S.O.S. through Church World Service, the inter-denominational agency for overseas relief. Others outside the homes being solicited are invited to send in contributions for this cause.

Non-Citizen Vets Urged To Seek Papers

Non-citizen veterans of the U. S. armed forces who served during World Wars I or II were reminded today by Floyd D. Granger, Veterans' Service Officer for the County of San Mateo, that they still may apply for citizenship preference based on their service.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service of the U. S. Department of Justice is permitted to "authorize and expedite" applications from such veterans who have honorable service. If a veteran has honorable active service during World War I or II; and was in the United States, the Canal Zone, American Samoa, or Swains Island at the time of entry into the service, or was later admitted to the U. S. for permanent residence, the Immigration Service may eliminate certain requirements, including the waiting period and residence requirements.

Ex-servicemen of the U. S. forces who have had three years of honorable active service during any other period are entitled to the same consideration for citizenship if they file application while in the service or within six months thereafter.

Former citizens who lost their citizenship by entering the armed forces of an allied nation during World War II, and because of oath of allegiance to that nation, may usually regain their citizenship by taking the prescribed oath of allegiance to this country before any district court of the U. S., or any court having naturalization jurisdiction.

Application for citizenship must be filed at the nearest office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, which for this area is located at the County Clerks Office in the Hall of Justice and Records in Redwood City. The Veterans' Service Office, at the Courthouse in Redwood City, offers assistance in making application if the veteran desires.

The total of $700 was raised by this effort of the PTA.

The success of the carnival was due to the tireless efforts of Mrs. Joyce Tubbs, who teaches a fourth grade class at Garden Village School, and to her committee — Mesdames Dorothy Tonnison, Molly Phillips, Kay Glebow, Jean Brugge, Curtis Pfeiffer, Jean Burkman, and to John Belforte and Bob Abbey, the principal of the school.

JEFFERSON SCORES FIRST, BUT WESTMOOR REBOUNDS TO WIN 14-6 'DEFENSIVE' WAR

THIS QUARTETTE were vying for first string end positions during practice sessions at Jeff High. Gil Moreno, Steve Dueschel, Mike Molinari and Tom Waddell are the receivers. Molinari and Waddell are no longer with the squad. The way Moreno and Dueschel have been latching onto passes the opposition must often wish they weren't around, too.

Art Banos Interception Leads To Only Indian Touchdown

"It took us a long time to get it but this first victory was over the team we wanted to beat most, Westmoor Coach Pete Matisi stated after the 14-6 varsity win over Jefferson last Friday.

Jeff has two more chances to gain a 1959 football win, either against Hillsdale in San Mateo this Friday or at South City when they vie with their traditional rivals the Wednesday before Thanksgiving. The Rams play San Mateo there and Mills here on the same dates.

Tom Dake, a 140-pound, 5-6 junior, seemed to know each piece of sod at Westmoor's field as he scored on a 13-yard pass play and set up the first TD with a catch behind a Jeff defender good for 28 yards. He also was invaluable as a punter, averaging 10 yards better than Jeff's kickers, gained the most yeards rushing (50), and caught 4 passes for 64 yards.

Ram quarterback Jim Heick connected on 7 of 14 passes and made many clutch pin-point passes, but he started shakily. His first pass was incomplete and his second was intercepted by Art Banos who returned it from his own 48 to Westmoor's 17.

Tailback Roger Stahl of the Indian's had two blockers in front of him when he rushed through the center of the line and crossed the goal marker. Ed Crowley's conversion try was wide of the bars.

The 6-0 Jeff lead didn't hold up long as Westmoor marched 63 yards in 8 plays to go ahead. Crowley's kick-off was taken by Ron Petrocchi on his own 20. He returned to the 37. Webb Parker slashed for 3, and Dake gained 6 and 11 on pitchouts and skirting the ends.

A five-yard penalty against Jeff and Dake's 28-yard catch of Heick's toss placed the ball on the Jeff 15. Parker smashed the line for 7 yards and Walt Prouty hit for six. Parker moved two yards through the center of the line for the score. Heick converted by running around right end.

Westmoor, continually using a "flat" ball kick-off, recovered a fumble when up-front Jeff men couldn't hold onto Larry Seigal's kick. The Rams started on the Indians 34 but by the end of the four downs had gained only two yards.

The two teams had excellent line play throughout the contest and the score would have stayed 7-6 except for Prouty's interception on the Jeff 40 and return to the 17. Parker gained 4 and Dake did the scoring on a short screen pass around the left end. Heick ran the conversion.

Bob Miller and Harry Leininger started playing pass and catch and the duo brought the ball down to the Westmoor 18, but the gun sounded ending the game as Parker intercepted at that point on a fourth down desperation play.

Tom McHugh looked superb but it was for only one play. The swift halfback gained 21 yards on his initial run and suffered a dislocated shoulder. This was the second time during the season he was injured on his first carry.

Matisi said that Petrocchi was excellent at defensive end in the second half and also credited Andy Saranchock with strong play. On offense he mentioned Prouty as being outstanding along with Dake.

Jeff Coach Joe McGrath singled out Bob Nielson, Joe Bollentini and Banos. He also noted that Miller played good football and with seasoning should come along. Miller banged his knee on his first play from scrimmage, yet played the remaining part of the first half and the entire second period.

PAL Wants Boys To Try Out For Boxing Berths

John Coleman, president of Daly City's Police Athletic League, said that youngsters 8-18 years old may try-out between 7 and 9 p.m. on Monday nights at Jefferson High School gymnasium for positions on the DC boxing team which will meet South San Francisco on December 8.

"Those who show ability in any weight division will be able to participate in the second annual matches with South City," Coleman said. Again this year the winning team will hold the perpetual trophy, which is currently at the Daly City police station since the DC kids won last year.

Coleman said those over 18 can try-out for the Golden Gloves events.

JEFF-SOUTH SF 'BIG GAME' WEDNESDAY

Jeff High's footballers have little chance of moving into the win column this week as they meet Hillsdale, an eleven still with title visions via a 4-1 Peninsula League record.

The Friday 2:45 p.m. contest at Hillsdale will find Jeff's hardening defense trying to contain Ron Peters. Though the Indians played "rock-em sock-em" football against Westmoor last week the Knights are in a higher class than the Ram team.

Hillsdale also lost last week, 20-6, to Burlingame, but it marked only the first defeat in three seasons for the Hillsdale wrecking crew. Coach Joe McGrath's charges will have to be higher than a satellite to bring back a win.

The Indians will have a better chance against South San Francisco when the two clubs meet next Wednesday at South City at 2:45 p.m. It will probably be their last chance for a victory. Due to the time element involved this paper will not be able to bring results of that game until the following week.

Bowlin' Them Over In W'lake

By Leon Cohn

Westlake Bowl Ten Pin Chatter . . . The Lake Merced Nursery went on a rampage against the pins . . . Rolling on Swanson's Westlake lanes the flower quintet had games of 835-918-969 to set a new league standard of team total pinnage, 2722 . . . Their 969 game is also high for the loop . . .

Leading the assualt was Bob Borgnello with a 576 series ... Lending a helping hand with good games were Claude Attell with 233 ... Phil Hargrave's 213 and Geo Xavier with 214 ...

Inez Kenny of the Toy Circus team in the women's 750 loop emerged with the high series for the night as she totaled 529... Included in her series was a 213 game...Helen Mathews, the league's demon secretary, was one pin off with 528...Val Freeman threw in a 201 game for her teammates of Tee Off Tavern ... Also for the fair sex, Lou Pierovich of the Mission Cleaners in the Evening Stars loop had a 514 series...Missing from the league is Pat Bertsch...Pat had a little surgery on her foot...

A 204 game was enough to give Ralph Arnott a two pin bulge over Gary Rounds for the weekly high series in the Westlake Knolls loop ... Ralph totaled 552 for the Commercial Tile boys as Gary Rounds' 550 went to waste as his Fullam Painters quintet dropped three games to the Nelson Framers ... Jack Watts had 540 for three for the latter team ...

In the Wednesday Mixed 5's Buzz Ringue had a 559 series which included a 228 game ...Augie Marino was next with 555 for his Ayoob Sport Shop team ... Vert Adkins led the women with 477 as she helped the Rudolph Trapp Painters win the odd game from the Bellview TV ... Louise Stagnaro lost out to Vert by one pin as she led the entire Park Plaza Beauty Salon team to a two game victory over the Westlake Lodge bowlers...

Sett Casini, sponsor of the many Casini's Appliance teams, was on a split spree in the 99'ers league ... With all his troubles he managed to pick up the 4-7-9, 5-10 and the 4-5-10 ... Must have had a working ball to leave the latter split...

Congratulations to Bob Kern, secretary of the Lake Merced loop ... his wife presented him with a bouncing baby boy the 11th of November ... Bob is a holiday father ... His girl arrived on Halloween and the other boy on Christmas ... Ed Hargrove with 220-203 and a 575 series topped the league ...Joe Senn of the Piazza Bros. five opened with six in a row and then ran into a couple of splits to finish with a 224 game...

Pacing the Late Night Owls loop was Jack Thompson... Jack's 601 series was his first in league play ... In the Knights of Columbus league, Barney Kerns now has the title of "Two Game Kerns"... A little up in years and that third game gets rough... His 190 and 221 game earned him a 552 series.

Westmoor 120's Lose 'Big One' To Capuchino

Westmoor continues winning 120-pound basketball games but the one big loss which would have ended the Peninsula League lightweights in a tie for first with Capuchino could not be erased.

Capuchino took a rough, 26-25 win at Westmoor with the winning shot being pushed in with but 18 seconds left. Only one foul was called against the Mustangs while they converted six charity tosses. Pat Russo's 13 points were high for the losers and 11-2 second place standing Rams.

In other games: Mike Lanier's 12 and Jim Lucke's 13 points paced the Rams past Hillsdale, 37-34; Russo's 12 and Lucke's 9 led the club to a 34-28 win over San Mateo; and Russo and Lucke had 16 and 10, respectively, in the 46-29 encounter with Jeff. The league commission also handed Westmoor a forfeit victory over Jeff in a game which they had lost earlier in the season to the Indians.

While Coach Tony Giammona's 120's won the four games the 110's lost all four contests. Scores were: Hillsdale 25, Westmoor 23; Capuchino 34, Westmoor 25; San Mateo 51, Westmoor 37; and Jeff 37, Westmoor 28. High scorer for the Rams in each game was as follows: Mike Pedrini, 9; Pedrini, 8; Jeff Coupe, 13; and Bartley Kerr, 8.

PAL Gridders Topple OLPH By 19-0 Count

Upsets continued to take their toll of the front runners Saturday in Daly City's touch-football leagues.

In the 8th Grade League, PAL beat OLPH, 19-0, knocking OLPH from first to third place. The BYA Colts moved into a tie for first with PAL when they nipped Ben Franklin, 13-7. Quarterback Bruce Hix threw two touchdown passes to end Gary Mendoza for the Colts. Jim Soutos scored for Ben Franklin.

The 7th Grade League leading Daly City Merchants were idle. In the battle for second place, the Snell-BYA Stars defeated the BYA Snell Indians, 18-6. Mike Lane, Jim Frost, and Martin Jaspovice scored the Star touchdowns. The win moves the Stars one game in front of the third place Indians, OLPH and PAL, both winless in five previous starts, locked horns in an attempt to escape the cellar. Neither team gained on the other—they fought to a 6-6 deadlock.

The 6th Grade League leaders, PAL, faced the second place PAL Devilpups and came out on the long end of a 14-6 score. PAL, with a 4-0-1 record, remains in first place. The BYA Rams defeated the BYA 49ers, 6-0. The touchdown was secored by Lee Williams. The win moved the Rams into a second place tie with the Devilpups. OLPH beat the Ben Franklin Midgets, 14-0, to give them their second straight win of the season.

The winless OLPH 5th graders gave the once-beaten BYA Hawks a close battle, only to fall, 6-0. The win put the Hawks on top.

Plastic Bag Hazard Is Called Avoidable

Suffocation, from a variety of circumstances, is a leading cause of infant deaths, according to the National Safety Council. One avoidable cause is the mis-use of ultra-thin plastic bags which should never be used for make-shift crib mattress covers.

Councilman Joe Named Nor-Cal 'Coach Of Year'

Joe Verducci, San Francisco State athletic director, was named Northern California "Coach of the Year" Wednesday. He shared honors with his star quarterback, Jim Sochor, named back of the year, and Chris Burford, Stanford end, voted the best lineman.

Verducci coached the Gators to their fourth consecutive Far Western Conference championship, winning eight collegiate contests and twice over San Quentin.

A present Daly City councilman and former mayor here, Verducci finished his 25th year of coaching with high honors.

Sochor, only 5-8 and 152 pounds, is described by Verducci as "Eddie LeBaron of his decade." The senior quarterback guided SFS the past four years and averaged nearly 50 per cent of his attempted tosses for completion.

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING:

DON MOSSI: (In a visit here last week Don Mossi commented it would be great if he were traded to the San Francisco Giants but he enjoys playing for the Detroit Tigers and is happy where he is. And well he should be. The Jeff High graduate racked up a 17-9 pitching mark for an up 'n down club). "They let me pitch the way I want to and that's the way I like it. I don't have one best pitch but try to mix them up. As for one hardest batter to get out, it all depends on what kind of day they're having with the bat. From one day to the next you never know who will be the roughest to put down. I'd much rather start than relieve; no, money is not a consideration. You get more of a feeling of being in the game when you're a starter. It's hard to say whether or not we'll (Detroit) be a contender next year."

DON MOSSI, former Daly City prep star, has a total of 51 wins and 36 defeats in the American League. Now with Detroit as a starting pitcher, he saved innumerable games as a reliefer with Cleveland. His earned run average has consistently been below 3.60.

* * * * * *

JOE McGRATH: "At Jeff High we have one of the most outstanding linemen in the league. Bob Nielson would be a standout with any team in the Peninsula League." Also, a good prospect for college ball. A fine lad and very cooperative.

* * * * * *

ED MONTAGUE: (Scout for the San Francisco Giants and talent seeker for the semi-pro baseball Giants playing at South San Francisco). "No boys from the Daly City area turned up at the South City park for a try-out with our club. A number have made the squad who attend Oakland and Peninsula schools, though. Dean Prince and Gil Ullery, two former South City High ballplayers are currently with the club. It's not too late for someone in this area to try-out but I'd like to say again that we're mostly interested in high school seniors and college freshmen with ability. We currently have an 4-6 record with 10 games left in the schedule but we're not as interested in winning as giving the boys a chance to play. There's an All-Star game set for December 13 to benefit the San Mateo Boys Club. As far as the pro Giants are concerned I can only repeat what Bill Rigney has said, 'the club is interested in any trade that will strengthen the bench or bull pen'."

* * * * * *

JOHN COLEMAN: (President of the Police Athletic League). "Four professional soccer players are interested in forming a team here but can't find an indoor gym to practice in. They play for a Scottish team in San Francisco and are interested in coaching 11 to 14 year olds here. They would also be interested in forming a group of high school students who are sincere. Three of the four are from Daly City. Three of the four men who come up to the police station almost every day to see me are Alexander M. Ross (35, 3310 Alemany boulevard, San Francisco), John P. Devlin (39, 127 Evergreen avenue) and Alexander O'Neill (28, 115 East Moltke street).
